This passage is about <sup>the</sup> author's experience <sup>ing</sup> of the noise <sup>of</sup> living near an airport. Airports in large cities are usually a very busy place <sup>s</sup> as there are take-off <sup>s</sup> and landings <sup>s</sup> <sup>every</sup> in a few minutes. Modern jet planes make a lot of irritating noise; additionally, they send out a strong smell of kerosene. These pollutions have a lot of bad effects. People <sup>living near there</sup> are unable to sleep well <sup>x</sup> and easily get nervous, headache <sup>s</sup> <sup>or</sup> other <sup>problems</sup> diseases. To avoid this, the ultimate solution is <sup>to</sup> <sup>or</sup> move away <sup>from</sup> the airport ~~from~~ the area, but this is not a good idea for everybody. Someone may live in the area for many years and <sup>is</sup> ~~are~~ accustomed to the place <sup>or</sup> ~~of~~ house or work <sup>s</sup> nearby. Moreover, it is not easy to find a <sup>quiet</sup> new place in a big city. Alternatively, one can try to keep noise out of the house by sound proof glass; however, you have to use <sup>an</sup> air condition <sup>ex</sup> all years <sup>bad</sup> round to solve the ventilation problem, ~~but~~

There is little you can do ~~with~~ your garden.

to protect

~~from the garden~~
from the noise pollution.
