This passage is about a free show provided by an advertisement company. The speaker there was nervous and made funny mistakes.

Talking about advertisements, some people think that they can provide <sup>the</sup> most direct comprehensive information about products; thus people might save a lot of time in shopping. However, <sup>(On the other hand,)</sup> ~~many~~

<sup>are</sup> others against advertisements because they find there are some

~~it~~ elements of misleading <sup>that</sup> and they often encourage people to buy more things than necessary. My point is that it is good for people to look at advertisements especially before holiday seasons, because ~~this~~ it will definitely save you a lot of money. Moreover, companies always present their best <sup>(parts)</sup> of their products in the advertisements. If you look more advertisements of ~~the~~ similar products <sup>from</sup> of different companies and your time <sup>spent</sup> is worth the money that you save. Of course, you should control your buying impulses and limit <sup>your purchases and</sup> to buy only the things <sup>you</sup> in need. Talking about ~~make~~ a

<sup>yourself to buying</sup> speech, my experience is that ~~the~~ good preparation and confidence are the two factors to success. Good preparation can help <sup>make you</sup> clear

~~your mind in~~ speech and it can build your confidence as well. [188]
